SPRITZ & GLAMOUR

A zingy new aperitif to refresh and uplift

As a child, Malin Spano spent her summers making cordial from fresh elderflowers with her mother in Sweden. 'When I got older, I started to mix it with prosecco, but found it a bit too sweet,' she says, 'so I added citrus to balance it.' The former PR discovered pink pomello while visiting Los Angeles in 2021, which gave her favourite drink the ideal combination of zesty tartness. 'It tasted delicious,' she says; so much so that Spano spent the next two years creating her recipe for a pomello and elderflower liqueur. Named Pomello, it is best enjoyed as a spritz (one part Pomello, two parts sparkling wine, a dash of soda over ice). Aperol be warned - there's a new aperitif in town. BT

EXPERT'S TIP

'When choosing a colour to paint a room, I always go with my gut, safe in the knowledge that it can quite easily be changed if it doesn't hit the mark. Pick a shade that, first and foremost, makes your heart sing.'
